THE RISE OF GODZILLA

ゴジラの登場

A GODZILLA FAN PROJECT

made by: JoshTube

Hello there. This is not a official Toho license Godzilla product as such nothing in this book is canon nor is considered canon. This is just my own interpretation of the king of the monsters so yeah.

Enjoy :)

The year was 66.0 Mya

A mother theropod is protecting it's unhatched children in a underground cave. Her bones are broken, her dorsal plates are broken aswell, the once proud roar of the beast turned into a bellowing cry. The mother is weak but strong enough to protect her young for enough time. But there not alone. A pack of dromeaosaurs have entered the underground cave.

The mother theropod hissed and growls at the pack. The dromaeosaurs did the same. It appears no one is risking it. Until one of the dromaeosaur rushes towards the eggs. The mother responds by steeping on the raptor crushing it.

The rest of the pack pouches at the mother theropod. The mother was able to kill 3 of them, the rest escaped and ran off. But one giant dromaeosaur still remains.

Standing twice the size of the rest. He is the alpha determined to get a meal. Ever since the volcano destroyed the plants and the herbivores moved south they have no choice but to eat the weak ones or risk it and eat larger theropods eggs or scavenging rotten Carrions. The alpha charges at the mother. Clawing her face until she was almost blind. the mother responds by bitting the left arm and ripping it. But the alpha dint give up.

The alpha proceeds to bite the mother's neck but instead gets he's Neck bitten by the mother theropod.
As a last resort the alpha slit the mother's throat, the mother theropod screams in pain after witch the mother kills the alpha by crushing it's skull. The mother theropod is now dying as a last resort to defending it's unhatched children. The mother theropod covers the nest with mud and the mother last ontop of it so that no one takes its eggs away. The last thing this theropod sees is a bright light from a hole on the top of the cave.

a large star like thing is getting closer and closer and closer the theropod makes her last roar before collapsing dead on the ground.

In space we see a large magnetic asteroid called gorath and smaller ones heading towards earth at a lighting speed. Gorath struck earth Creating tsunamis and earthquakes
And the smaller goraths fell down earth exploding and Killing anything getting in the way.

All of the dinosaurs that are not under ground or somewhere where the tsunami can get them. We're killed

Some of the active volcanoes erupted
Destroying the remaining living beings, nothing can survive gorath.

Times have passed the gorath event has stopped no meteor showers have Been seen, the once blue sky turned into a grey fog, the remaining dinosaurs that survived in the surface suffered and either die from starvation or died from the toxic atmosphere in the surface. The mammals were able to survive and thrive, becoming the new dominant specie's on the planet.

But at the underground some dinosaurs have been hibernating exposed to underground radiation
Changing there body's and size.
And at the mother theropods nest
Only one egg has survived, and it starts to shake.....

Something has survived....

And it's name.....

Is Godzilla....

The egg hatched revealing a young theropod. The radiation changed the infants color having bigger dorsal plates and can produce a radioactive gas from he's mouth witch in the future will be more powerful a couple of years later. The infant eats it's first meal the carcass of it's deceased mother. The infant dint really enjoyed it since the body was already rotten.

The infant decided to explore the cave encountering mushrooms and giant bugs called meganulon witch have no Intress on the infant.

The infant growing tired decides to head back to the nest and hibernates by burying itself in the dry soil and resting.

Years past the infant grew to be a teen
The teen burrowed out of the cave.
While burrowing he felt a "chilling" in he's skin, the teen burrowed out of the ground to see a new world

The teen witness Strange fuzzy creatures. They are similar to the dinosaurs but different. Some are small, some are huge, and some are equally the same size of him.

The teen hears a hiss looking down he sees a sabertooth tiger threatening him.

Curious and irritated, the teen smacks the big cat out of its way Killing it and proceeds to explore the new world he has discovered

While walking in the strange white ground, the teen discovered something quite strange. The teen discovered creatures very strange and
Unusually creepy there not like the rest of the creature's, there not fuzzy and they don't seem to have any tusks or claws but rather dull nails

There humans or early men called neanderthals. They walk on two legs and they appear to be "social" the teen is very curious and decided to look at a safe distance. Until

One of the creature's made a spark and made a strange glow that looks like red flowers. They started to put some red stuff in the red thing. The teen was very entertained he has never seen anything like this. The teen not knowing the danger decided to walk towards the tribe of strange creatures with curiosity until...

One of the creature's started shouting aggressively at the teen startling it.

Soon more or them came out of the cave and started throwing rocks and spears at the giant. The teen roared in pain and ran towards the nearest beach the rest of the tribe follows aswell.

The teen Ran into a cliff at the bottom was a large ocean the tribe then finds the teenager, they slowly move towards him holding there spears and screaming very loudly until the teen accidentally trips causing the giant to fall into the salty water Bellow them

The teen unable to swim tries to get to the nearest land but in the process gets caught in the waves and gets he's head smacked by a large rock knocking the creature out.

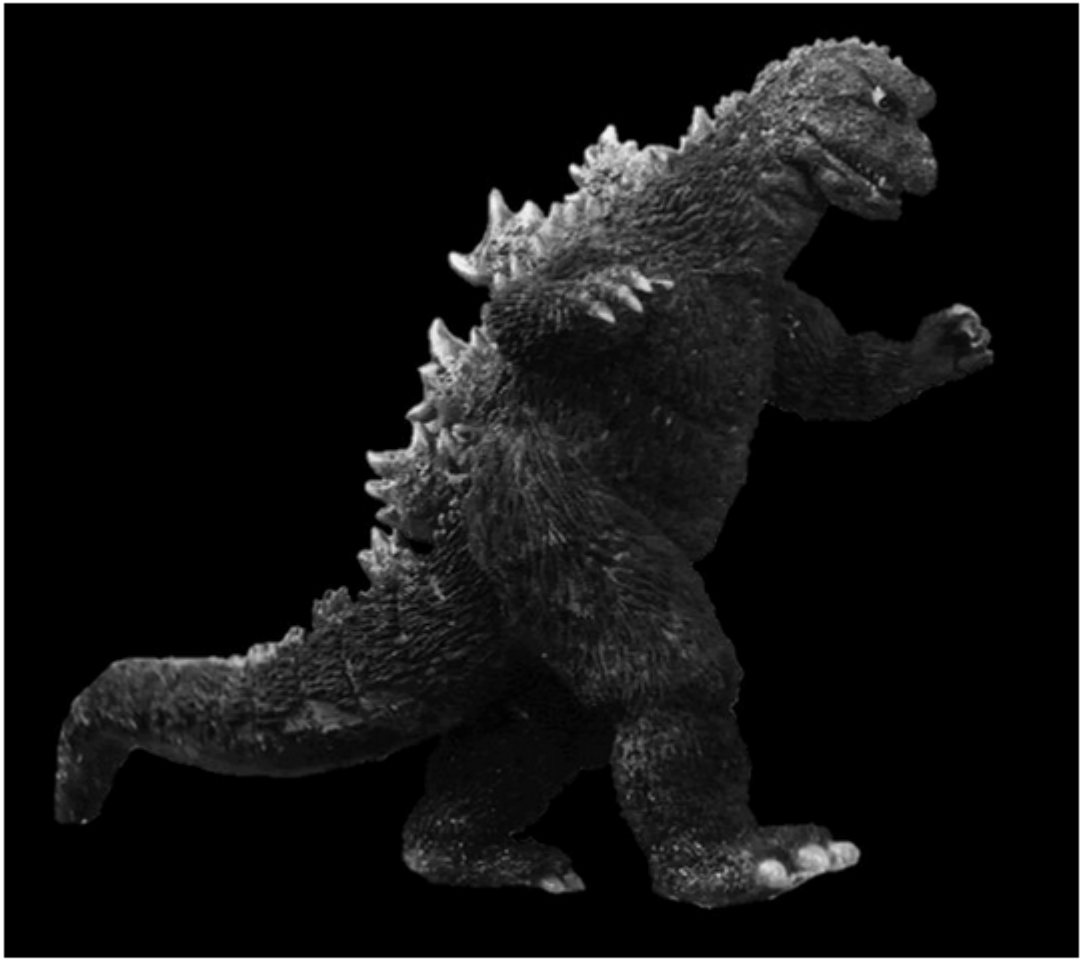
Time has passed The waves carry the knocked out teen to a island
A radioactive island...

The teen wakes up and observers the area. The teen decides to walk into the forest. Where he discovered a strange goo of some sorts, it was coming from a nearby mountain. The teen decides to drink the strange goo and enjoyed it. He decided to cover himself with the goo while licking himself and playing with it. This place was paradise for The little fella and so he decided to sleep for today. And so Godzilla stayed on the island for many many years....

(By now we shall call this little guy Godzilla)

(because he's gonna be big in the next chapter)

Years have passed the big G changed he's appearance growing larger and taller reaching from 3.9 meters to 40 meters in 100,000 years. The creature's appearance changed aswell



He was living the life. Eating coconuts and some good ol salty fish. No rules no nothing just paradise.
But he was Abit lonely, There's nothing on the island besides him, some lizards, fishes, whales, flying thing and small weird fluffy beak things that are very creepy

But that doesn't matter as long as he's safe everything is A-O-K

2 months later Godzilla realized that there's a small fish shortages, they must have migrated somewhere or some place, until he sees a Strange thing floating on the water, the creature decides to play it safe and watches in a safe distance. The thing is getting closer and closer and closer an-

Guy 1: EU VEJO O CAPITÃO DA TERRA!

The captain: ONDE?!

Guy 1: Devemos montar acampamento lá, capitão?

The captain: hmm, acho que sim, bem, senhores, vamos parar para tomar um pouco de rum e uísque, também podemos levar algumas frutas exóticas para mostrar ao mundo o que encontramos.

There here....

Godzilla peaked out of a hill to see what was going on and saw those creatures again but there different.

They are colorfull now with strange things ontop of there heads and they communicate in a strange sound he couldn't even understand. The creature decided to play smart and never show he's face to them fearing they would do something to him

Later that night Godzilla woke up to a strange smell, it smells good and quiet relaxing, he decided to find out where the smell was coming from and saw something that scared him

They were Killing the creature's on the island, alot of them, with a sharp blade thing, he understands that there probably hungry but trapping them in small boxes aswell? That's a red flag
And killing them in a large number that's another red flag.

He also saw they were putting fishes in the red glow they called "fire" So that's where the fishes were, they stole the fishes for themselves, killed the wildlife and abducting them in there strange creature they call "ships" and worst of all threatening the safety of the island. That was the last straw. In a fit of rage Godzilla roared in anger and run towards the sailors to GET THE FUCK OUT OF HES ISLAND!

Guy 4: chomp o que foi isso?

Guy 1: sips and says in a drunk voice PROBAVELMENTE O VENTO~

Guy 3: OLHA OLHA UMA BESTA

The captain: uma besta onde?

The captain: CARALH-

Godzilla roars at the sailors while having a angry expression

It was silent until.

The captain: NÃO FIQUE AÍ PARADO, MATE-O, ABRA FOGO!

They started hurting Godzilla with some metal pellets that stabs Godzilla's chest. In a fit of rage Godzilla stomps some of the sailors killing some of them and injuring 7 sailors, the remaining sailors tried to flee but Godzilla destroyed there boat, sinking it.

Guy 1: A COISA DESTRUÍU NOSSA ÚNICA SAÍDA AI DEUS N- AAAAAAA

Godzilla grabs the guy with curiosity at first but then the guy stabs Godzilla's finger with a machete, in raged Godzilla crushes the guy and a strange red stuff comes out of godzillas hands.

The captain: sua não criatura... seus demônios se reproduzem.... VOCÊ NÃO TEM SO-

Godzilla crushes the captain with it's jaws eating him.

He did it he protected he's ho-

Godzilla looked around he's home seeing some of the creature's on the boat drowned to death because of him
And some of the forest was destroyed in he's path, seeing he's once island home ruined, Godzilla left the island for good...